The Onassis Foundation Science Lecture Series

The Onassis Foundation Science Lecture Series is a series of lectures and discussions on various scientific topics. It is organized by The Onassis Foundation, a private non-profit organization, and is open to the public.

The lectures cover a wide range of topics, from physics to biology, mathematics to philosophy. They are given by leading experts in their fields and are aimed at a general, non-specialist audience.

The series has been running since 2000, and has included lectures by Nobel laureates and other leading scientists. It is a great opportunity for the public to learn about the latest developments in science and to engage with leading experts in their fields.

Link: https://www.onassis.org/el