The Onassis Foundation Science Lecture Series

The Onassis Foundation Science Lecture Series is a series of lectures that explore various scientific topics. The lectures are given by distinguished scientists and scholars from around the world. The series is sponsored by the Onassis Foundation, a philanthropic organization that supports education and cultural initiatives.

The lectures cover a wide range of subjects, from physics to economics, from history to philosophy. They are held in different locations around the world, and are open to the public. The lectures are typically followed by a discussion among the audience and the speaker, providing a unique opportunity for learning and networking.

The Onassis Foundation Science Lecture Series is a great opportunity for anyone interested in science to learn from experts in their field and to engage with other passionate learners.
